South-Carolina GAZETTE.

From FRIDAY May 3d, to TUESDAY May 7th, 1754.

On Sunday Afternoon arrived the Lamb, Capt. Price, from Briſtol, by whom we have the following freſh Advices.

LONDON, January 19.

PRIVATE advices from the Hague aſſure us, that ſeveral princes of the Germanic body have lately given notice of the oppoſition they think themſelves obliged to make to the election of a King of the Romans; and which they reſerve to themſelves the right of making when the motion for taking that affair into conſideration ſhall be made in the college of princes. The ſame advices add, that there will be ſeveral armies encamped next ſummer in Germany; and that the Ruſſian troops at preſent cantoned in the conquered provinces of that empire, will alſo be aſſembled, and march in the ſpring to places where they may be at hand to act in concert with the forces of an allied power. But theſe letters, which enlarge much on military operations, ſpeak very enigmatically of their real ends. It is certain, that meaſures are ſo concerted in the private convention between the courts of Verſailles, Berlin, and Stockholm, that they can mutually aſſiſt each other as occaſion ſhall require.

Laſt wedneſday died at Hungerford-Park, of an inflammation in his bowels, the hon. Col. TRELAWNY, aged 54. He was ſon to Sir Jonathan Trelawny, late biſhop of Wincheſter, and brother to Sir John Trelawny, of Trelawny in Cornwall: He ſerved in two parliaments for the borough of Weſt-Loo; he was made commiſſioner of the victualling-office by the late king, and commiſſioner of the cuſtoms by his preſent majeſty: in 1737 he was in perſon conquered the rebellious Blacks, and then treated them with ſo much compaſſion and mercy, that they in gratitude built a town and called it by his name; he was a volunteer at almoſt all the attacks made upon the Spaniards in the late war. He was a ſcholar, and a good one, of a fine imagination, well inſtructed and ſerious in his religion; loyal and affectionate to his king, and a ſteady friend to our preſent happy eſtabliſhment; brave, ſincere, and generous. —— Happy the Few that could imitate his example.

Dublin, Jan. 19. Letters patent are preparing to paſs the great ſeal, appointing Eaton Stannard, Eſq; to be his majeſty's prime ſerjeant at law in this kingdom, in the room of Anthony Malone, Eſq; lately diſmiſs'd.

Saturday laſt the levees of the four lately diſcarded gentlemen were crowded with perſonages of the higheſt diſtinction, worth, and property, as a mark of their reſpect for thoſe diſintereſted patriots, who ſo nobly diſtinguiſhed themſelves in the cauſe of liberty.

'Tis rumoured, that ſeveral other perſons, of unſhaken attachment to the illuſtrious houſe of Hanover, and who have dared to manifeſt it in the worſt times; but who at the ſame time, by a vigorous oppoſition, teſtified their diſapprobation of ſuch meaſures, as they rightly judged to be equally deſtructive to the true intereſt of their ſovereign, and the liberties of their country, will likewiſe be turned out of their employments.

London, January 22. As there can be no manner of doubt, that Mr. Appleby has had a proper and generous gratification for communicating his uſeful and important ſecret for making Sea-water freſh, the publication of which in the Gazette, for the common benefit of mankind, cannot but be highly applauded; ſo it is a freſh proof of the poſition, that every thing may be expected from a diſcreet application of bounties.

We hear, that ſome conſiderable military promotions will ſoon take place, and that the enſuing ſummer a camp will be formed, but upon what ſpot is not yet determined.

A draught will ſoon be made from the royal train of artillery, to go to ſome of the garriſons in the Weſt Indies.

A reſolution has been taken by the court of Portugal, to people the Iſland of Biſiau near cape Verd, and to build a fortreſs on it, in order to guard the new colony againſt the inſults of the negroes.

London, January 24. We have an account that war has been declared in the Eaſt-Indies, between the natives in the intereſt of the Engliſh and thoſe of the French. The manner of doing it, we are informed, is by ſending an axe from one party to the other.

The negociation between the Engliſh and French India companies, for a neutrality in the quarrels that might hereafter happen between their reſpective allies in the Eaſt Indies, having miſcarried, either from a ſuſpicion of want of ſincerity on the part of the French, or a perſuaſion that our country has nothing to fear from them; it naturally reminds us, that France made overtures, at the beginning of the laſt war, for a neutrality between the two companies in the Eaſt-Indies, which were then rejected; and the conſequence was, the loſs of Madraſs, beſides ſeveral fruitleſs expeditions againſt Pondicherry. However, it is to be hoped, that more care will be now taken to preſerve a ſuperiority over the French in that part of the world; and it behoves us to be more diligent in our preparations, as France ſent above 18 months ago about 2000 land-forces, with a ſquadron of eight or ten men of war, to make a ſettlement on the coaſt of Mozambique in Africa.

The ſame letters from Paris ſay, that the people are moſt ſeverely attacked with it; and that the troops of the French troops are ordered to draw lines of circumvallation, to prevent, if poſſible, the contagion ſpreading.

It is reported, that a conſiderable fleet will fail the enſuing ſummer for the Mediterranean.

London, January 26. Wedneſday night at 10 o'clock, a cabinet-council was held at St. James's, which did not break up 'till 4 the next morning. And Thurſday the marq. de Mirepoix, the French ambaſſador, was at St. James's, where he ſtaid upwards of two hours.

Thurſday was held a board of admiralty, when the Anſon, Culloden, Somerſet, and Harwich men of war were put into commiſſion.

We hear that application will be made to parliament for a Lottery, to make the Foundling-Hoſpital a general hoſpital, to take in all children brought there.

London, Jan. 29. The office of ordnance have ordered ten field pieces of ſix pounders each to be ſhipped from Woolwich on board the men of war for the uſe of the regiment going to the Eaſt-Indies, with a ſufficient number of matroſſes to go with them.

Orders were laſt week diſpatched with inſtructions to admiral Knowles, governor of Jamaica, for better improving the trade of that iſland, by encouraging the growth of ſeveral vegetables ſuitable to that climate.

It is, we hear, the earneſt requeſt of many, that a bill may be brought into the houſe of lords, to enable a man to marry his deceaſed Brother's Wife, or Wife's Siſter (provided neither party have any child), ſuch marriages having been indiſputably proved to be neither contrary to the law of GOD, nor any way detrimental to the good of ſociety.

The laſt letters from Madrid bring advice, that an officer, diſpatched by the governor of Ceuta, was arrived there with an account, that on the 17th ult. in the night, the garriſon of that place made a ſally, in which, without loſing a man, they deſtroyed the greateſt part of the works raiſed by the Moors in the neighbourhood of that town.

London, Jan. 31. A large quantity of naval ſtores are ordered to be ſhipped for Gibraltar and Port-Mahon.

They write from Paris, that a propoſal is talk'd of there for ſending commiſſaries to Dunkirk from England, France, and Holland, in order to take proper inſpection of the works of that port, and agree upon what condition they are to remain in, ſo that all complaints in regard to non obſervation of treaties may be obviated.

They write from Dublin, that the right hon. Thomas Carter, Eſq; is not only diſmiſſed from his employment of maſter of the rolls, but that his name is alſo ſtruck out of the liſt of privy-counſellors. They add, that there is likely to be ſome more alterations among the perſons in public employments.

A letter to a right honourable lord juſt publiſh'd, and ſaid to be wrote by a certain right honourable earl, in anſwer to a pamphlet entitled, Thoughts on the Affairs of Ireland, aſſures us, that the Iriſh are not ſetting up for independency: It is thought, if the noble author, with the ſame fire of ſentiment, and maſterly ſtile, peculiar to himſelf, would as clearly prove, to ſome people, that the Engliſh are not ſetting up for independency, his writings would be better received at a certain great houſe in L—d—n's Inn-F—ds; ſince the laſt advices from our diſtant metropolis inform us, that a ſpirit of liberty has lately roſe up there; and that it is believed many of the moſt conſiderable of his ſubjects will revolt from the king of the iſles the firſt favourable breath that ſhall ſit in the weſtern quarter of the world, and aſſert the wiſdom of a nation, where thouſands of tons of waſte land, and multitudes of people unemployed? The only anſwer that can be given is, they fix their attention on other peoples concerns, and neglect their own. It is however a true political, as well as a trite moral maxim, Charity begins at Home.

It was the ſaying of a French miniſter, To take from the Parliament the Power of remonſtrating, is the ſame Thing as to pull out one of the King's Eyes. It is thought this has been whiſper'd at Verſailles, and that the clergy, after all they have done, will be obliged to aſſiſt from their operation.

Our laſt letters from Paris take no notice of any public miniſter being recall'd.

Private letters from Germany hint their hopes, that ſubſidies will come in with the Spring.

London, February 2. There is a talk, that ſeveral changes will ſoon be made in ſeveral public offices under the government.

Many letters from Italy aſſure us, that a body of French troops is aſſembling in Provence and Dauphiny, where they are to lay in readineſs to march into Italy, in caſe the court of France ſhould find it neceſſary to have any hand in the affairs tranſacting in that country.

It appears by an authentic liſt of the ſhips which entered the harbour of Cadiz laſt year, that their number amounted to 1142: of which 643 were Engliſh; 277 French; 148 Dutch; and 74 of different nations.

There is a talk, that ſome ambaſſadors, who are not well with the courts where they reſide, will ſoon return to their reſpective kingdoms.

We hear, that the hon. Col. Cornwallis, late governor of Nova-Scotia, will ſucceed the late Sir D'Anvers Oſborne, bart. as governor of New-York.

There are private letters in town from Dublin which adviſe, that the right hon. Henry Boyle, Eſq; ſpeaker of the houſe of commons, has reſigned his place of chancellor of the exchequer in Ireland.

That

That Sir Richard Cox, collector of the cuſtoms in the port of Cork, is ordered by the commiſſioners to make up his accounts in a month; from which it is concluded that his diſmiſſion will not be delayed.

And that Thomas Carter, Eſq; maſter of the rolls, is determined to ſtand ſuit with the crown, to be continued in his office, or ——

On thurſday the 17th the pictural repreſentation of a gentleman formerly eminent for honeſty and patriotiſm, was maliciouſly hung on the triple tree near St. Stephen's green, Dublin, where it was cruelly ſuffered to remain ſome hours before it was taken down.

According to private letters from Ireland, never was a greater commotion known among the great, nor a greater dejection amongſt the traders of that kingdom. Money, at all times ſcarce, is ſcarcer than ever; it having been thought prudent in the preſent ſituation of affairs, to ſtop up the channel which ſupplied the bankers with caſh to diſcount notes, &c. Thoſe concerned in the woollen branch ſuffer particularly, from another cauſe; the diſtemper among the horned cattle in England having led the farmers to ſtock more with ſheep than uſual, the demand for wool from Ireland is become inconſiderable.

London, Feb. 5. Letters from Liſbon inform us, that Mr. Caſtres, the Britiſh miniſter, at the iſſue of a conference with the ſecretary of ſtate, had diſpatched one of his domeſticks for London, with a plan, containing twenty-eight articles, for ſettling the diſputes with the Engliſh merchants

According to private letters from France, an extraordinary council was lately held at Verſailles to conſider of means to raiſe money, which ſat nine hours.

Laſt Saturday there was a board of admiralty, which ſat late, and on their riſing, meſſengers were diſpatched to ſeveral ſea-ports.

On Saturday the right hon. the earl of Kildare ſet out from his houſe in Marlborough-ſtreet for Ireland.

The late preſs alarmed many people, but the reaſon given for ſending a fleet to the Eaſt-Indies, (viz. becauſe two ſquadrons had been ſent thither by the French) is groundleſs; nor are there any apprehenſions that the French deſign to order any ſhips of war to thoſe parts: But the laſt Eaſt-India ſhips which France ſent out, carried each of them near four hundred men to ſtrengthen their forces at Pondicherry; and therefore it is with good foundation thought, that our government cannot avoid aſſiſting the Eaſt-India company in ſupporting themſelves in their Eaſt-India ſettlements.

It is ſaid that the fleet deſign'd for the Eaſt-Indies will not ſail as ſoon as was expected, and that a Sloop of war is to ſtop at the Cape de Verd Iſlands, in order to receive inſtructions from England, and to carry them from thence to the fleet in the Eaſt-Indies.

London, Feb. 7. His grace the duke of Dorſet has, agreeable to his majeſty's pleaſure ſignified to him, iſſued a proclamation, proroguing the parliament of Ireland to Tueſday the ſecond of April next; to the chagrin and confuſion of many in that kingdom.

According to ſome letters from Dublin, it was confidently reported, that the poſt after the removal of the maſter of the rolls, &c. an order was received from England forbidding ſuch removals.

London, Feb. 9. By private letters from France we learn, that the frigate the Utile which arrived laſt month at Port l'Orient from Cape-Breton, brought many letters from the Officers of the five homeward bound Indiamen which are put in there. Theſe letters, it is ſaid, import, that when the Anſon, one of the five, ſailed from Pondicherry, Dupleix, the governor of the French ſettlements in Aſia, had made himſelf maſter of all the plains in the neighbourhood, and driven the Engliſh as far as Madras, which place he had entirely inveſted. This news raiſed the actions from 1660 to 1730.

Letters from Breſt adviſe that they work with great diligence on the ſhips building there; and that the works for making the new Baſon advance very faſt.

Yeſterday rear admiral Watſon and commodore Pocock, who are to command the fleet ordered to the Eaſt-Indies, were at court, and took their leaves of his majeſty, in order to proceed on their expedition.

In a private letter from Goa, to a merchant in Liſbon, there is an account of a new kind of negro ſlaves brought thither from Mozambique; they are well featured and well ſhaped, very active and docile, and are ſaid to come from the kingdom of Mokoko, in the very heart of Africa. What is peculiar in theſe negroes, is their ſize, none of them being four feet complete; and according to their report, none of their nation is taller.

It is reported that his excellency the lord lieutenant of Ireland will ſhortly reſign that high office.

Some private letters from the Weſt of Scotland acquaint us, that a perſon of ſome fortune has diſcovered a method of dreſſing a common weed, ſo as to produce a fine ſtrong even thread, of which a kind of cloth may be made, much reſembling the fineſt muſlin. The proper ſeaſon for dreſſing this vegetable is at the entrance of the ſummer; and it is hoped, that in the courſe of the current year he will be able to bring this ingenious invention to perfection.

Letters from Dunkirk adviſe, that the ground where the citadel formerly ſtood, and the materials of the foundation, which have remained ever ſince its demolition, with the governor's houſe, were lately ſold for 120,000 livres. New ſtreets are to be laid out where the citadel ſtood, the houſes whereof will be more convenient for the harbour, than thoſe of the town. The other works, which have made ſo much noiſe, and the exiſtence whereof is very real, are, ſay theſe letters, entirely completed.

According to private advices from the Hague, it was aſſerted there, that general Cornabe, who lately viſited the works at Dunkirk on the part of the ſtates general, had reported to the princeſs governante that the new works were manifeſtly contrary to treaty.

We hear that Montague-houſe will certainly be purchaſed to depoſit Sir Hans Sloan's muſeum, the Cottonian library, and the Harleian collection; and that the gardens will be turned into a phyſic garden.

And 'tis ſaid James Weſt, Eſq; will have the direction of Sir Hans Sloan's muſeum; and that all his curious exotic plants will be removed from Chelſea to Montague gardens.

London, Feb. 12. Capt. White, arrived at Dartmouth, from Carolina, on the 25th of December, in lat. 37. 21. north, and long. 52. 5. weſt from London, met with a violent gale at weſt by north, which made a free paſſage over him, and did her great damage: Having about four feet water between decks, was obliged to throw 40 barrels of rice overboard. The ſame day Capt. White took up the crew of a ſhip from Cape-Breton, for Martinico, which was then ready to ſink.

The elector of Bavaria having commanded his vice chancellor, Baron Kreitzmayer, to compile a new body of civil law for the uſe of his dominions, the work is lately publiſhed under the title of Codex Juris Bavarici judiciarii. It lays down rules for preventing, as much as poſſible, the protracting law-ſuits, to the ruin of the ſuitors. And the good effects of abridging the forms of proceeding in the courts are ſo ſenſibly felt in the Pruſſian dominions, that it is expected the other princes of the Empire will think it an indiſpenſable part of the duty they owe to their ſubjects, to reform the preſent methods of adminiſtering juſtice.

It is reported that a gentleman is come from France with new propoſals for accommodating matters with our Eaſt-India company.

We hear that the India company will take up eighteen ſhips into their ſervice the enſuing ſeaſon.

The ſeveral regiments of foot, as well on the Iriſh as the Engliſh eſtabliſhment, are filling up their ſeveral corps to the full complement of men.

London, Feb. 14. The difference between this crown and that of Liſbon, in regard to the commerce of the Britiſh ſubjects, is ſaid to be in a fair train of accommodation; the intereſt of Portugal being ſo cloſely united with that of Great-Britain, that an interruption of that perfect harmony which has ſo long ſubſiſted between the two nations would prove equally prejudicial to both. But, notwithſtanding this, we hear, that a new miniſter will be ſpeedily ſent from one court to the other.

Some letters from Paris mention, that a naval promotion will be very quickly made, and that ſeveral bomb-veſſels and fireſhips are to attend the ſquadron which is equipping at Toulon; ſo that ſcarce any doubt remains of its being deſtined to repay the great civilities which the French have lately received from the pyratical ſtate of Algiers.

Yeſterday Admiral Watſon waited on the lords of the admiralty to receive his inſtructions.

And the ſame day Commodore Pocock ſet out from his houſe in James-ſtreet for Portſmouth, he having a conſiderable command in the ſquadron going to the Eaſt-Indies.

It is confirm'd by Captain Falls, arrived at Dublin, that an Algerine boarded a Brigt. belonging to Cork, and almoſt cut the captain to pieces, for not bringing to quick enough in obedience to his deſire.

It is reported, that, if the weather is ſuitable, the rebuilding of the King's-Bench priſon will be begun within a few weeks; and that the ground behind is the place fixed upon to build on; the preſent front is to be pulled down and laid open to the ſtreet.

Briſtol, Feb. 16. Thurſday morning five perſons were taken up in this city, and are now in cuſtody, on ſuſpicion of enliſting men into foreign ſervice.

London, Feb. 16. His excellency the duke of Dorſet, lord lieutenant of Ireland, is expected in England the beginning of April next.

We hear from good authority, that ſeveral gentlemen who have reſigned or been removed from places in the government of Ireland, will ſoon be reinſtated.

A noble peer, out of his great compaſſion to the poor of this kingdom, has drawn up a ſcheme for the better maintenance of them, to the great eaſe of pariſhes, and better ſatisfaction of the neceſſitous themſelves; but this is not intended to be preſented 'till the next ſeſſions.

'Tis ſaid that a conſiderable number of forces will embark on board the two men of war fitting out for Nova-Scotia.

A few days ago the wife of Patrick Fulham, farmer, near Trim in Ireland, was deliver'd of three ſons. It is remarkable (ſays an Iriſh News-Paper) that for nine years paſt ſhe has been deliver'd each year of twins.

Letters from Dublin, ſay, that their patriots, who are the majority of the houſe of commons, intended to move for opening the grand committee of religion: And 1ſt, To enquire of non-reſidents and pluraliſts, by whoſe neglect the people of their pariſhes, for want of inſtruction, remain ignorant Papiſts or Infidels.

2dly, Into exorbitant fines, and refuſal of renewing church leaſes; whereby the tenant's right is infringed, and he by the uncertainty of the tenure prevented from amending his eſtate, whereby the public loſe about 500,000 l. a year of improvements, which would have been made, if the tenant's right of renewal of church lands had not been infringed.

3dly, To enquire into the moral conduct of the clergy, that the true praiſe may be given to the generality, and it is hoped to all; for it is with great pleaſure they can ſay, that they have many ſhining lights of moſt excellent learned and edifying proteſtant divines. But that if any were wanting in their behaviour, proper chaſtiſement might be inflicted on the delinquents, whereby the ſcandal given to the order, by their continuing in vice, would be removed.

As the parliament is prorogued, it's believed that the grand juries will in their reſpective counties carry on the ſame good purpoſes, and inquire concerning the foregoing heads; and will afterwards make preſentments, or addreſſes to the proper perſons, or humble repreſentations to ſuch high authority, or courts, as, according to law and cuſtom, they are entitled to do.

By the prorogation of the parliament of Ireland, the following bills, which had been tranſmitted to England by the houſe of commons, have all miſcarried: An act for the relief of inſolvent debtors; for regulating the price and aſſize of bread, buying and ſelling all ſorts of corn and meal, &c. by weight, and for better regulating the market; for the better preſervation of the game; for obliging Arthur Jones Nevill, Eſq; (late engineer and ſurveyor general) at his own expence, and without any further charge to the public, to make good the defects in the ſeveral barracks built, rebuilt, and repaired under his directions; for allowing further time to perſons in offices or employments to qualify themſelves; for continuing and amending ſeveral temporary ſtatutes; for the more effectual erecting and better regulating free-ſchools, and for rebuilding and repairing of churches; the tillage act; and ſeveral others of general importance.
